Attractions:

Yuen Long Institute

A religious complex demonstrates the significance of Confucian, Taoist and Buddhist contributions to the society.

Tai Po Shan

At Hong Kong's highest mountain, you can enjoy a panoramic view of Hong Kong Island and Tsuen Wan industrial town to the south. Driving down hill, stop will be made at the old Fanling Walled Village belonging to a big family clan in the New Territories.

Luk Keng

Luk Keng lies opposite the China boundary, just across HK's starling inlet. You can see the border town on China side and a bird sanctuary in Hong Kong waters where Chinese pond herons and night-herons nest.

Sam Mun Tsai Fish Farming Zone

At Sam Mun Tsai fish farming zone, you can see how local fisher folks breed fish in submerged cages.
